ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for intercepting sessions is provided. The method includes the steps of identifying a packet of a session to be intercepted based on media component information of the session, and, if the packet to be intercepted is identified, providing duplicated packets of the session to an interception management element.